What Makes LMCooNCat's Maine Coon Kittens So Special? At LMCooNCat, we place a strong emphasis on the long-term health and soundness of every cat in our breeding program. Before any cat is considered for breeding, they must pass a full panel of genetic testing, undergo a professional cardiac ultrasound to screen for HCM, and receive hip X-rays to ensure optimal joint health. We carefully choose only those cats that meet our strict criteria for physical soundness and verified lineage. While it's impossible to eliminate all health risks in any living being, we go to great lengths to reduce them—and our purchase contract reflects that, covering a wide range of potential health concerns to protect both our kittens and their future families. Our kittens grow up right by our side, not in cages or isolated spaces. From an early age, they become familiar with household sounds and routines—blow-dryers, vacuuming, even bathing—so that by the time they leave, they're comfortable, social, and ready to adjust with ease. We're proud to say that in five years of breeding, we've never had a kitten returned due to behavior, and our buyers consistently praise the calm, friendly temperaments of our cats. We're deeply committed to maintaining breed excellence, guided by official standards—not trends. Our breeding cats include multiple TICA International Winners, Supreme Grand Champions, and CFA Grand Champions, selected not just for titles but for structural quality and balance. We breed with integrity, putting health and personality first—ensuring that every kitten we place can grow into a cherished, lifelong companion. Due to such a high demand for our Maine Coon Kittens, prices are firm and non-negotiable. We recommend reserving kittens shortly after they are born as they do not stay "available" for long. We do not take reservations for kittens before they are born. You may, however, put your name on the waiting list until your desired kitten is born. Once kittens are born, pictures are posted and those on the waiting list are contacted. *Select kittens are available with Breeding Rights. Prices may vary based on coloration. Those kittens come with a Pedigree. Kittens leave for their new home at 12 weeks of age. All kittens receive their first shots and are vet checked before leaving the home. Kittens come with a health certificate and a TICA Registration Certificate.
